

For the safety of all passengers and calm cabin atmosphere majority of the time, please do not allow voice use of cellphones. Just in the recent legal use of taxi time after landing, has created inconsiderate, loud and multi passenger use just to talk on their c-phones letting someone know the flt. has arrived!!! That short term use is already annoying and very noticable. Imagine inflight availability w/a seat mate shouting h/h conversation. Cell phones are not for this confined space use. As a Flt Attend of 41 1/2 yrs, I dread having to deal w/irresponsible pssgrs. We already deal w/monitoring electronic devises not being turned off when needed and the same for c-phones in use until the door closes. Pssgers do not listen to the PA announcements and continue to use the phone, even then when we ask them to turn it off. I urge the FCC to not allow this electronic device used as a voice phone. Eileen Halverson, NWA